

Introducing the New 2010 Parts Catalog Format

Changes have been made to the 2010 Parts Catalogs. In 2010 you will be seeing a reproduction of our actual engineering drawings. Taking advantage of existing illustrations not only allowed us to get this information to you more quickly but it also increased the amount of information you can see. These changes may require that you use our web tools a little differently. Our drawings will list the part number of each item but it will not list the colored part number of the item. You can find the appropriate colored part number of the item by going to the Serial Parts List. If you have any questions after reviewing this introduction, please call Winnebago Industries Part Sales for assistance.

Here is what you will encounter after you select the model year 2010:
Note the additional frame to the right of the model list.

It is suggested that you select the Serial Parts List button at this time which will open a separate window while you are viewing the 2010 illustrations. It is nice to view both windows at the same time. Both window must be open to cross reference the engineering part numbers to the service part numbers.

Once you select the model from the model list you will see the following index.

Note the indented items under Spare Tire and Wheel. This indicates that those items are shown on the Spare Tire and Wheel drawings but they also are illustrated or have a subcomponent parts list that is available when selected. When you select an item from this list you will be taken to the illustration.

Illustration:

The drawing now takes up the entire window. This will enlarge the part numbers you are trying to view.

To return to the index, select the "Back" button.
